

Privacy Policy

The information collected on our website for donations or transactions is strictly used for processing payment. Lourdes University never sells, rents, leases, or exchanges your personal information with other organizations. The identity of our constituents is kept confidential. The information retrieved through an online donation, payment, or pledge is restricted to authorized individuals of the University. The University and its contracted parties adhere to the PCI security standards.

Return Policy

Those who wish to return or refund a ticket for an event purchased through the portal hosted on the University's website may do so by visiting the event site. Refunds for events will not be made available after the event has closed.
